About this Evening Seminar

This seminar by Professor Phillip Capper discusses arbitration adjudication and other contractual dispute resolution processes, addressing issues such as:

- ❖ what are the real differences between these techniques?
- ❖ what is "binding" - what is "enforceable"?
- ❖ how do they work together?
- ❖ problems with overlaps and evidence
- ❖ stepped procedures and jurisdictional issues

Who Should Attend

- Lawyers who practise arbitration law
- Arbitrators
- In-house counsel/Legal Officers who manage disputes for their organisations

About the Speaker

Professor Phillip Capper – Partner, Lovells, United Kingdom

Phillip Capper heads Lovells' worldwide International Arbitration practice. Formerly Chairman of the Faculty of Law at Oxford University, he is now Nash Professor of Engineering Law at London University. He is a member of the ICC Commission on International Arbitration in Paris, and an Honorary Member of the Society of Construction Law (in the UK, and in Malaysia). Phillip has chaired ICC and LCIA arbitral tribunals, and has served as sole arbitrator and party appointed arbitrator in ICC and LCIA arbitrations. He has been involved in countless international disputes (as arbitrator, mediator, legal assessor, advocate, or adviser).

He drafted the dispute clauses in the New Engineering Contract, 2nd edition and Institution of Civil Engineers Conditions of Contract Measurement Version, 7th Edition and was engaged as expert by the French Association of International Contractors (SEFI) to evaluate FIDIC's EPC Silver Book. For CIRIA's Client's Guide to Risk in Construction he wrote on legal risk management. He was Founding Editor of the Construction Industry Law Letter and former General Editor of Emden's Construction Law. His recent publications include Construction Industry Arbitrations in Sweet & Maxwell's Handbook of Arbitration Practice 3rd edition, and editor of the 3rd edition of International Arbitration: A Handbook. He directs the International Diploma Course for the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators. For the ICC in Paris he led small working groups drafting model clauses for ICC arbitration and ADR, and for use with the ICC Rules for Expertise. A great deal of Phillip's experience relates to complex engineering and infrastructure projects, and high technology and electrical and mechanical procurements.

About the Chairperson

Dr Anne Magdalene Netto, LLB, MSc, PhD, FSIArb is currently practicing as a specialist construction lawyer and arbitrator. She has wide ranging experience both in the academia and in commercial dispute resolution and is also an adjunct lecturer with the Singapore Management University. She has authored numerous articles on construction law in Singapore and the UK which have been published in leading journals.
